日本宮崎縣南部外海8月8日觀測到規模7.1的強震，氣象當局隨後發布了史上首個「南海海槽地震臨時信息」，提醒民眾可能出現「巨大地震」；但在一個地震如此之頻繁的國家，充斥著「科學術語」的預警令民眾倍感擔憂與困惑。有地方關閉海灘、取消活動，許多人延後旅行計劃，開始囤積物資，超市貨架被一掃而空。

A 7.1 magnitude earthquake was observed in the southern coast of Japan's Yamazaki Prefecture on August 8th, and the weather authorities subsequently issued the first "South Sea Reservoir Earthquake Temporary Information" to warn people of the possibility of "big earthquakes"; but in a country where the earthquaking is so frequent, early warnings filled with "scientific terms" cause concern and confusion.
